GREAT BRITAIN. THE LATE RIOT IN MANCHESTER.

MANCHESTER, Sept. 23.—The funeral of Policeman Brett, who was killed by the mob on Friday, took place yesterday. The citizens of Manchester showed their sympathy for the deceased, and their respect for law and order, by attending the funeral in large numbers. The police continue to make arrests of parties implicated in the riot, as fast as they can be identified, and twenty or thirty persons are now in ail awaiting examination.

FRANCE. THE PARIS RACES.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The annual races of the City of Paris took place yesterday at the Lengchamp Course, near the Bois de Boulogue. As on former occasions, the attendance was immense, and the excitement ran high. The great race of the day, for the Grand Prize of Paris, was won by the fameus horse Patrician.

Sir: I have the honor to report that early on the morning of August 30 I left Cronstadt with the Franklin, Canandrigua, Theonderoga, and Frolic, and proceeded to Trangsand reads. This excursion was made because of a wish expressed by the Grand Duke Constantine that I should visit the iron-clad fleet assembled there for the purpose of naval exercise during the Summer months. As we entered the sound leading to Trangsand roads, a sloop-of-war on the lookout met us and saluted my flag. As we approached, they formed in line abreast, flanked by two sloops-of-war, and fired a salute of seventeen guns, each vessel taking part in the salute, and firing consecutively from right to left. This salute was novel, but the offect was beautiful. They steamed passed is in line, turned in line by a general movement, admirable for its accuracy, and followed us to the anchorage, where the station of honor was assigned us in the advance. Vice-Admiral Gregory Boutakow, whose flag was firing from the iron-clad frigate Petropoolosk, saluted and the whole Russian fleet cheered. After we anchord, each of the Monitors constituting the squadron rounded under the stern of his slap, and, as she passed, fired her battery, the crews cheering, and took position in the rear of the heavier iron-clads. Our rigging was manned, and, as each slap passed, our crews cheered in turn. Vice-Admiral Boutakow, with his Admirals and Capitais, called on me to pay his respects, and wanted myselfand officers to visit Wybory the next day, and afterward to dine with him on board his flagship. TWELVE HUNDRED DEATHS FROM THE EPIDEMIC IN NEW-ORLEANS.

NEW-ORLEANS, Sept. 23 .-- According to The Republican's figures, the whole number of deaths from yellow fever, from its commencement to Saturday morning, the 21st inst., was 1,214. The deaths during the 24 hours ending Sunday merning were 69, and for the 24 hours ending this morning were 77, being the largest number af deaths for any two days since the epidemic began.

YELLOW FEVER AT FORTRESS MONROE. FORTRESS MONROE, Va., Sept. 23.—The United States steamer Yucca has arrived from Pensacola with the yellow fever on board. At sea, on the 17th inst., one of the crew died of yellow fever. There are now seven cases of yellow fever on board the Yucca.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS FROM GALVESTON.

Registrar Harris has received a letter from the Galveston Howard Association's Committee, formally Gaiveston Howard Association's Committee, formany thanking the physicians and tradesmen of New-York for timely aid, and remarking that, while the infected Gulf districts mainly need pure brandy and courageous nurses, New-York, being far distant from the scene of peril, can do no better than contribute money. It is feared that the fever may not be stayed before the last of November. Replying to Dr. Harris's bold proposition "to remove all the unacchimated to a point of safety," the Committee say:

We know not now any place of safety. The epidemic district may be stated at an area of 200 miles in length and 125 miles in width, comprising the Gulf front of Terns, at least from Galveston to Corpus Christi; and in latitude, bounded by a line nearly parallel to the Gulf shore, at a distance of more than 100 miles. Milliams on the Brazos, flustratile on the Trinit; and Lagrange on the Celorado, are new sadiy involved; and no human sagareity can tell how much farther interior the virus may be carried, and take the epidemic form. So many persons have fled to the country in all directions from Galveston, Houston, and other infected places, that it would appear to be spreading among the rural population. The panie, in fact, is so great wherever cases have been carried, that few who are attached can obtain the norsing which all experience proves to be indispensable to a recovery from yellow fever. Dead subjects and fettle clothing thus exposed would appear to generate the virus more effectually than the sick living subject. We forbear to thereties upon the mode of generation or distribution of yellow fever virus, but certain it is that the disease is now epidemic in several villages and towns, and that a number of others have had well marked cases, and are in probable expectancy of epidemic yellow fever.

LECTURE BY PROF. STONE OF LOUISIANA.

Dr. Warren Stone, Professor of Surgery in the University of Louisiana, delivered a lecture on yellow Inversity of Louisiana, delivered a lecture on yearow fever yesterday morning, before the faculty and students of Bellevue Hospital Medical College. Prof. Stone, who was warmly received, spoke about an hour. He said that it was nearly seven years since he had visited this place, and that his present visit showed that through all the bitterness engendered by the recent war the profession of medicine had progressed. Regarding yellow fever, he said it was a mailedy the laws of which had never been determined. It was peculiar to hot climates, and was never engendered, as other diseases, simply by the filth of cities. It came at intervals, usually passing Northward from the South; and there were periods in which communities had immanity from it for a number of years. It usually remained longer in country places than in cities; and always progressed in a regular ratio of increase. The present fever in New-Orleans had come from Galveston and Indianola. The question of Quarantine was, of course, of great importance. The speaker was confident that the disease was not contagious. The subject can have the disease but once. The Professor had had over 30 years experience with the insidious and terrible disease, and gave much interesting information regarding its action, and the different modes of treating it. Different treatment was required for different constitutions; but he seemed mostly to favor the use of quinine. After concluding his remarks he was warmly applicated, and a resolution of thanks was passed.

ARSON AND SUICIDE IN THE SEVENTEENTH WARD.

Shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday morning Policeman Cooke discovered a fire to Samuel Laucheimer's hat, cap, and gentleman's furnishing store, arst floor of the tenement No. 165 Avenue A. The door was at once burst in, and the are was found in a weath of the alarm was occasioned among the tonants living on the upper floors. The fire was manifestly of incendiary origin, and the proprietor was accordingly arrested and taken to the First-ave. Police Station. At 95 o'clock a.m. Fire Marshal Baker arrived, and the prisoner was searchingly examined. He donied all knowledge of the origin of the fire. He was then searched, but nothing of consequence was found. The prisoner was remanded to his cell, soon after reaching which he buried his face in his himds, and exclaimed, "My God! I am a ruined man." Soon after reaching which he buried his face in his himds, and exclaimed, "My God! I am a ruined man." Soon afterward his wife called with his breakfast; but her request to see her husband was defied. At about 11 o'clock the doorman, having occasion to pass the cell where Laucheimer was confined, noticed that he was reclining on the rude bench, and spoke to him; but receiving no reply, he entered and found him quite dead. The prisoner had shot himself through the center of the breast. A small four-barreled Sharp's repeating pistol lay on the floor beside bins. He had obviously placed the muzzle of the pistol close to his breast, as his shirt had been burned and blackened by the powder. Mr. Laucheimer was a native of Germany, aged 35 years. ing some old paper, under the counter. Considerable

LECTURE BY THE REV. ROBERT COLLYER. The Rev. Robert Collycr of Chicago delivered a lecture last evening entitled "The Inside Track," before the Liberal Christian Union, at the Second Unitarian Church in Brooklyn. The house was full to overtarian Church in Brooklyn. The house was full to overflowing. He proposed to speak of the everlasting life. It has been said lately in the West that the old stock is dying out in the East. Viewing the curiosities and relies of Ancient Egypt, in the British Museum, one would naturally ask whether London, Paris, New-York, or Chicago, might not at some remote day become as desonate as are the once great cities of Nineveh, Eabylon, and Jerusalem. We have advanced further than they ever dreamed, and we have in actual existence what they did not dare even hope for. Every man must ask himself whether the great nation in which he dwells will endure; or will its future be round among the ruins which will be preserved by antiquarians. The speaker believed that these great nations will at last all be forgotten, and that nothing will be left of them but dust. Ent if we wentle endure we must be good, and no right to all mankind. A man should never for a moment believe that our Government is soon to be ruined. The reverend gentleman had no doubt that Chicago would at some faiture time be a sand-heap, and Buffalo a pile of bricks; and as for New-York he could only say that a city that sends such a man as John Morrissey to Congress, ought put to be mach surprised if his should wake up some morning and find itself a part of New-Jersey, supported by the Camden and Ambay Railroad. It was the ruin of old Rome that her homes were ruined first. We must, to be happy, have a right hone, and then lead a right life. The marriage relation is the most sacred next to Good and heaven. It is generally supposed that a husband is a voiume, and the wife the supplement; but the truth is, man is the first volume, and the wife the second, with the supplement and does his work well, he is on the inside track. Let him work, and do his work well, he is on the inside track. Let him work, and do his work well, the one would be supplemented by the order of the man who does his duty. Love is by the fireside, where the woman takes pleasure with her five p flowing. He proposed to speak of the everlasting life. It has been said lately in the West that the old stock

The first claim upon the calendar was that of THE TRIBUNE Association against the City for advertisements printing, &c., $1,700-which, with interest from 1865 and other incidental expenses, amounts to about $1,900. Counsel for The Tribune not being prepared to proceed, the case was adjourned. The next claim presented was that of Robert F. Baily, for services as copylst in the office of the Corporation Counsel. Mr. Baily testified that the work for which he claims compensation was that of copying riot claims. Mr. A. T. Campbell was called on behalf of the city. Mr. Campbell testified that he was a clerk in the office of the Corporation Counsel during the time specified by Mr. Baily; that Mr. Baily was placed in the office by his uncle with a request that he should be kept busy; that nothing was said about compensation, it being understood that he was to receive no compensation; that he was kept busy, according to request, on the riot chaims, and that he was not a good copylist, but did the best he could. Another claim of The Tribune Association was then presented, for $12,28 for advertising, printing, &c., for the Board of Supervisors from 1862 to 1867. Mr. J. H. Jenney testified that he is a stockholder in the Association, and that his business is that of a collector; that he has frequently presented these bills for payment, but has mevery case been informed that the appropriation for printing would be exhausted before the committee could report upon the bills; Mr. Jenney understood that the reason the bills were not paid was that The Tribune bills were somewhat larger than those of other newspapers; that newspapers charge according to their circulation; that formerly The Tribune charges on this department of the paper are lower than charges for similar work in any other department; that no fixed rate of charges was agreed upon. Mr. Manning of The Tribune testified that his business is to measure the matter published; that all such bills are made out from the records on his books; that the prices charged in these bills are the lowest charged. In answer to a question by Ex-Judge Bonney, Mr. Manning said that speeches of counsel were sometimes sent in with a from 1865 and other incidental expenses, amounts to about $1,900. Counsel for THE TRIBUNE not being pretween Piers Nos. 51 and 52 North River, leased to him by the city, which damage had not yet been repaired. The defense is that the lease contains no chanse requiring the city to make repairs. The National Broadway Bank presented a claim for $56,400.71, advanced by them to the city in 1852. The testimony on the part of the claimants showed that the money was advanced for the payment of employes on streets and roads; that the wages of the men were then three months in arrears; that, finding the appropriation for lands and places exhausted, the men in a body petitioned the City Chamberlain for an advance; that the petition was referred to the Broadway Bank, which advanced $28,423.07, the amount needed to pay the men off, the bank holding the pay-rolls as security for the repayment of the loan. The New-York Courier claims $357.30 for publishing the proceedings of the Common Council of 1863. The defense is that it is not shown that The Courier is one of the four efficial papers authorized by law to publish the official papers. four efficial papers authorized by law to publish the cial proceedings of the Common Council. Another c was presented by The Courier for $10,531 65 for publis the official proposal and the courier for $10,531 65 for published the official proceedings of the Board of Supervisors from March, 1863, to December, 1865. SENGER.

Late on Saturday night last the Montreal train on the Hudson River Railroad left Albany for this city, having attached a car from Buffalo belonging to the Merchants' Union Express Company, which was in charge of E. C. Gillette, one of the Company's messengers. When the train arrived at the Thirtleth-st. Depot, on Sunday morning, one of the railroad employés knocked on the door of the ear, but there was no response. The ear was soon after taken to the office of the Company, corner of Hudson and Leonard-sts., where the door was broken open with a bar. Gillette was not to be found, while a door on another side of the car was open. It was found that over $21,000 was missing. The key of the safe was in the lock, and attached to it was a note from Gillette, saying that all was right, and that he would appear at 11 o'clock on Monday morning and explain his conduct. He added that it was for the interest of the company immediately sent officers for Gillette's arrest. At exactly 11 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Miller, General Manager for the Company in this city, received a note from Gillette, requesting an interview at his hotel on Broadway. Mr. Miller went to the place designated, when Gillette admitted the robbery. He further said that for a long time whisky had been his curse, and he was determined to be rid of it. He saw only two ways by which to accomplish this: To spend a few years in Sing Sing prison, or to crease in business for himself. He thought if he should dispose of the Company's money they would offer a reward of a few thousand dollars for its regovery, He could by this means make a forced loan, which some time he would repay, and with this money he would start his business. Should this fail, he would try Sing Sing. He particularly desired to engage in business, for he had for eight years done on the bought the time for marriage had come. After talking a few minutes he concluded to reveal what he had done with the money, whether a reward was given him or not. He said that when the train renched this city he immediately went to Newark and hired a horse and buggy there, from whence he went to Belleville, where he buried the money, whether a reward was given him or not. ## THE SCHLESWIG FAIR.

At the invitation of the Committee in charge of the Fair for the benefit of the suffering Schleswigers several members of the press last night visited the rooms corner of Broadway and Twenty-eighth-st., where they were pleasantly entertained with excellent music, delicate refreshments, and a quiet view of the various articles on exhibition. The large hall in which the Fair is to be held to-day, to-morrow, and next day, is filled with numerous specimens of Danish handwork, articles meanafactured, and contributed by Americans whose sympathies are with the etiled patriots, rare flowers from many a Manhaitan garden, and scores of curious things to attract the attention of visitors, young and old, grave and gay. A prominent feature is the statuary-miniature copies of Thor waldsen's master-piece, "Christ and His Apostles," beside many others whose originals, though not so well known to the world of art, are scarcely less wonderful as creations of poetic genins and consummate skill. The Children's Department is very attractive, and what with the wax dolls which do anything but walk and talk, the elephant which may be seen for a six-pence, the rocking-chair without rockers, the lottery, and the thousand and one other things here brought together for the delectation of the rising generation, the little folks cannot fail to be immensely amused and correspondingly benefited. To-night the opening address will be delivered by Mr. Stalknecht, Mayor Hoffman and many other prominent clizens will be present, and as the other prominent citizens will be present, and as the entertainment is to be as much as possible Scandinavian in its character, visitors may be assured of having an

An inquest was yesterday held by Coroner Schirmer, at No. 2 Carroll-place, on the body of Thomas Staples Swift, who is believed to have committed suicide by taking laudanum. He was a music teacher of considby taking laudanum. He was a music teacher of considerable ability, and at one time enjoyed a flourishing business, but recently surrendered to the bottle, and was dismissed from his position as organist of an up-lown church. A few evenings ago he gave a concert, but the proceeds barely covered expenses, and this disappointment weighed him down. On Friday night last he left his boarding house, and did not return until late on Sunday night. Yesterday morning, Mr. William F. McIntyre, with whom Swift boarded, found him lying unconscious in bed, and at once summoned a physician. The necessary restoratives were employed, and he partially revived, but soon sank again, and died at about noon. Mr. Swift was a native of Ireland, aged 25 years.

THOY. N. Y., Sept. 23.—Some 30 piles of timber, comprising about 1,000 605 feet, were burned last night in the yard of J. N. Preeman, Son & Co., at West Troy. The lumber was valued at $30,000. Two horses belonging to Mr. Porter and valued at $3,000, were also turned. The insurance on the property is very light.

FIRE AT MORKISVILLE, PA.

Mr. Mull's store, in Morrisville, Pa., took fire on the night of last Thursday, from the explosion of a barrel of coal oil, and was destroyed. The clerk while drawing oil for a custemer, held a lighted candle, which he accidentally thrust into the stream. Ignition immediately occurred, the barrel expluded, the store was on fire. A harrel of after special cold, which stood near the other, did not explode. These are the farts gathered from a number of affidavits respecting the fire, taken soon after its occurrence.

ANOTHER BANK ROBBERY.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 23.—The Savings Bank in Norway village, Oxford County, about 40 miles from Portland, was robbed Saturday night of $11,000 or $12,000 in money and collaterals. The rogues have not yet been taken. THE TORONTO COMMERCIAL BANK.

BOSTON VS. PHILADELPHIA. BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 23.-In the cricket match today between the Boston Club and the Young America Club of Philadelphia, the Bostetians scored 43 in their first inning to the Young America's 191. The play was fine all round, but the Philadelphians have much the best show, and will undoubtedly win with ease.

THE AMERICAN POPULAR LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY. Dr. Wood, one of the Editors of The Herald

Dr. Wood, one of the Editors of The Herald of Health, in his "Answers to Correspondents," makes the following forcible remarks:
 "FAMILY INSURANCE.—I wish to make a few inquiries in regard to the American Popular Life Insurance Company, which has been advertised in The Herald. Do you think it is as good a Company to insure in as there is! How do their terms compare with other companies! Do you consider it reliable!
 "If you have a good constitution which you have never injured by dissipation; if you are at present strong and healthy, have good habits, and follow a healthful occupation; if you are descended from a healthy, long-lived ancestry, then this company is by all means the best and cheapest one to insure in. If you have made an apothecary shop or a beer barrel of your stomach, and a tobaccobox of your mouth; if you have bad habits, an unhealthful occupation, or a sickly, short-lived ancestry, then this is not the company for you, for to such persons it is the dearest one there is. My confidence in its reliability is evinced by the fact that I have insured my own life in it."
